Twas years ago. The moon shone bright And by her side, in fond delight, Far from the sordid world's distress, Basking in youth's sweet foolishness, Young Algernon, with deep-breathed sigh, Forgetful though the hours might fly, There where the ocean laved the sands

Sat holding hands. The honeymoon long since has flown, And Algernon, no wiser grown, Sits where the gaslight blazes hot And says, "I'll open that jackpot." Unheeded still, the hours pass on. Time is disdained by Algernon. He sees, or calls, or pat he stands, Still holding hands.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incura-ble. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and b constantly failing to cure with local treatmert, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten blood and mucous surfaces of the system. CAPE MAY, N. J., September 17th, 1903.

I bowled into this once-famous Mecca of Southerners this p. m., to find that the recent Atlantic coast cyclone had not only wrecked several small vessels off-shore, but that it had blown down a number of magnificent shadetrees throughout the city-and had blown homeward most of the summer residents as

Tonight the thermometer is quoted at 54°. with a brisk Nor'easter wafting the salt air inland, and topcoats are not altogether uncomfortable-though somewhat "skase."

The Cape May of today is not the Cape May of ante-bellum days, when it was the favorite resort for the best and bluest blood of the Southern "chivalry," with an occasional visit from such conservative souls as HENRY CLAY. The War and the enforced withdrawal of its Southern clientele was a sad blow, and its greater distance from Philadelphia and New York drove the seasiders of those places to Atlantic City and Long Branch, respectively. But now there's a change coming. A Pittsburgh syndicate is planning to reclaim the tidepossessed territory between the present Cape May and Sewell's Point, and a new Cape May will soon have a place on the map.

Recently the Reading Railway Company has entered the city, giving two direct lines to Philadelphia, with about eight trains each way daily, in addition to a splendid steamer ride each day during the summer months. So there'll be plenty of chance to get here—and to get away if you've money enough left after a week or two's stay. -

But I'm not authorized to advertise the scheme of the Cape May Real Estate Company -it has several million dollars behind it, and will probably appropriate a part of the sum in Former Asked to Furnish Latter that direction.

Among the most prominent residents here is ex-Senator Charles H. Dougherty of Phila delphia, whose private "cottage" looms up three stories, contains over twenty rooms, and stands in the center of an entire square of forest growth.

To be the guest at such a home is well worth the long dusty ride from Maysville.

I'm too busy talking of auld lang syne to write more just now.

The Genuine vs. Counterfeits.

The genuine is always better than a counterfeit, but the truth of this statement is never more forcibly realized or more thoroughly appreciated than when you compare the genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve with the many counterfeits and worthless substitutes that are on the market. DELIGHTS FOR CHILDREN.

Features Designed For Their Pleasure and Instruction.

No institution provides so much instructive entertainment for the children as Barnum & Bailey's Greatest Show on Earth, for, with characteristic foresight, that enterprising firm recognizes the fact that what amuses and educates children has an equal attraction for parents and guardians. It so happens that among the thousand and one wonderful sights are scores upon scores of those which are really of benefit to the little folks. Special acts and features are secured for the avowed purpose of delighting children of all ages, and the smallest child will be sure to find some curious or elegant object within the big tents to amply repay the parents for the visit. Children's numbers are arranged on the program especially for this object and embrace sights and feats easily comprehended and understood by their youthful minds. Little elephants, tiny ponies, and other creatures are taught to execute tricks, similar to those read about in story books, and for the three hours they may possibly remain in the show, the children are really revelling in what their youthful fancies imagine is a veritable fairyland of wonders. Such attractions as the two menageries afford them an excellent idea of the beasts, birds and reptiles living in the world.

There are so many meritorious features that it would be hard to find anyone not satisfied; and Barnum & Bailey's Great Show is certainly the cheapest of all those in existence, for it gives so much for so little. The picturesque entertainment in the menagerie tent, where magicians, fire-kings, sword swallowers, expansionists, jugglers, musicians and others perform, convey more solid information than a whole library. All this and more will assuredly be here on Wednesday, October 7th, for an afternoon performance, when every child should see it. The tents are lighted by electricity, and contain a foot rest for every seat.

BEAUTIFUL FLORAL DISPLAY

Plant Culture to Form the Basis Fo One of the State's Most Attractive Installations at the Worl.'s Fair - Sowing New Kentucky Home Lawn In Blue Grass.

A display of Kentucky's products and resources minus the influence given it by the delicate hand of woman would be stripped of its originality and beauty. The Kentucky Exhibit Association, which is raising the money for Kentucky's representation at the Louisiana Purchase Ex position in St. Louis next year, has recognized this point and woman is to play her usual important role in the work. In futherance of this idea Mr. H. Nanz, of Louisville, Chairman of the Department of Floriculture of Kentucky Exhibit Association. peal to the ladies and all flower lovers of the State of Kentucky to help him in making the floriculture display one that every Kentuckian will be proud of. In his letter, Mr. Nanz writes:

"Knowing full well that a majority of flowers cultivated in Kentucky are done so by the ladies of our commonwealth, who as a rule have full charge of beautifying their respective homes and grounds, I am appealing to them to furnish us all plants, evergreens, shrubs, etc., of which they may be possessed and which they are willing to exhibit in the floral display to be arranged in the Horticultural Hall at the World's Fair. "It is our desire and aim to make the floral department one of the most complete and unique in this hall. We must have the support of the Kentucky women with us in this project and any who have rare or odd-growing plants will confer a great favor by lending them to the Exhibit Association for the Exposition period. I will promise personally that the same will be well taken care of. Those who are interested will please correspond with me at the earliest possible moment, when information as to packing, shipping, etc., will be cheerfully furnished."

The work of Mr. Nanz in connection with the Kentucky Exhibit Association is not to end in the Horticultural Hall. He has kindly consented to take charge Kentucky State Building grounds and make them beautiful. Late this fall he will sow the lawn around the "New Kentucky Home" at the Exposition in blue grass and will transplant all the different Kentucky shrubbery that will flourish in Forrest Park. Next spring large flower beds will be made on either side of the different Kentucky asphalt walks leading to the building.

The effect of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery upon weak lungs is to strengthen them, to enable the full oxygenation of the blood, arrest the progress of dis-ease, and heal the inflamed tises. Lung diseases have been and are being cured by "Golden Medical Discovery," in cases where deep-seated cough, frequent hemorrhage, emaciation, weakness, and night-sweats have all pointed to a fatal termination by consumption.

It is but justice to both companies to say that they won golden opinions from our citizens and we say it with pride and pleasure that they conducted themselves with the strictest propriety throughout the day. No one could have failed to observe the great improvement which has taken place in these companies during the past few months; and we hope the City Council will now see the propriety of making ample provision for their benefit.

In addition to these performances, we saw two junior companies with small engines occasionally in the procession and they added not a little to the general hilarity and amusement which pervaded the crowds of spectators. "The Raging Tads" were also out in full dress parading the streets to the great amusement and wonder of our country friends who were present. As You Like It

That is about the way The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York issues policies in these days of varied requirements in business and family life.

The postscript to a letter written by Mr. Ebe Walter, of Clarkesville, Del., enforces this thought:

"The options of the dividend addition of $867, making my policy $1,857, or a total cash value of $687.19 are fully appre-ciated, but the settlament which I have chosen seems to be the best suited to my present circumstances."

What Mr. Walter did take was a dividend check for $196.98 on the paid-up policy of a $1,000, which cost him all told $448.02. He says:

The feature which I particularly like about my policy is that the longer I live the more I get and that during the balance of my life there is nothing more for me to pay. (From Wilmington (Del.) News, Nov. 27, 1902.)

In writing for terms for a policy of this kind, state what you would like to receive in cash at the end of limited payment period, amount you would like your beneficiary to receive in event of your death, and give your age.
